Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

Two business men of this vicinity have returned from a tour of the desert country of Southern Nevada and parts of California Asked what they had seen that especially impressed them one replied: "The Lost City" The other answered: "The onyx lined toilets in Boulder Dam".

Interesting is the diversity of human interest. One, an artist, found the abandoned mining town in the desert a picturesque feature of the landscape. A whole town, in which the houses and stores were vacated when the boom subsided. The other a hard headed business man, impressed both by the magnificence and waste of taxpayers money in such accessories of the monumental Boulder Dam, as toilets walled in beautiful, polished onyx.

We admit a sympathetic understanding of the artist's pleasure in the sadly forlorn spectacle of a town, reminiscent in its sentiment of the "Elegy," empty of its human content. Where once rang the shout of laughter, and rose the songs of a robust race, where kindly neighbors ministered to the needs of neighbors, where greed or ambition towered, is now only the habitation of pigmy owls, pack rats, lizards and prowling desert creatures. In other words the artist views the scene with the inner eye. The uncouth and ugly shacks left on the strand of receding fortune are invested with a spiritual charm, as the spirit in a scrawled letter is read between the lines.

But the onyx lined toilets are something to give the common American tax payer pause. Why, he may well ask, down in the bowels of this mammoth barrier, against which the great Colorado river strikes and recoils, should these humdrum convenienves of man be so expensively adorned. We have the witness' word for it, that they are far more splendid than anything the proud hostelries of New York and the great cities of earth afford. The tombs of the pharaohs cannot match these palatial closets lined with gorgeous black onyx. History holds no story of such magnificance even among the ancient Medes and Persians, or Rome in its glory of world supremacy. Well might the common American citizen, tin can tourist, or even the gilded patrician hesitate to enter and occupy the splendid throne. It is described as overpowering, celestial, and removed in eons of time, from that lowly cubicle in the back garden covered with luxuriant honeysuckle of which James Whitcomb Filey sang so feelingly.

The reveries induced by such lavish expenditures, however, are of the practical American kind. Why, asks the thoughtful tax payer, are we mulchted for useless magnificence? As he leaves this small chamber of overwhelming grandeur, he proceeds through larger rooms that honeycomb the base of Boulder Dam. This, he reflects, was built in the Hoover regime. There are solid bronze doors that must have cost up to $500 each. And, reminiscent of former Secretary of the Treasury, Andrew Mellon, there are also doors of solid and polished aluminum. It is a series of high and spacious apartments of royal proportions and adornment, all empty like the deserted town on the desert. How many millions were spent under the Hoover regime to build inside this great stone barrier, a dark palace illumined by gorgeous lighting fixtures, massive metal doors, and sombre splendor.

If our various governments must spend money with a prodigal hand, perhaps after all, the methods of waste make little difference. Perhaps the Roosevelt way of squandering money on relief, 65 cents of every dollar going to actual relief and 35 cents to the brass hats administering it, is preferable to spending vast sums on bronze and aluminum doors and onyx walled water closets.

Mrs. John Werry and daughter, Mrs. William Hosken of the bay district, attended the funeral of Mrs. Werry's late brother in law, James Cremin in Marysville Wednesday and came on to Nevada City to visit many former friends. Mrs. Werry also visited her brother, Mr. Butler in Grass Valley and then drove on to Sierra county where she is visiting a son, Frank Werry and family.

Dolph Verlod of Grass Valley, a member of the Nevada County Narrow Gauge railroad staff for several years has been promoted to agent at the Nevada City depot, office of the company.

JUMPING FROGS LEAP IN ANGELS CAMP MAY 15-16

ANGELS CAMP, May 10. — The clocks in Angels Camp, picturesque town of the old Mother Lode, not only have gone on a "sit down" strike, but have turned back more than 60 years in preparation for the town's ninth annual Jumping Frog Jubilee, set for Saturday and Sunday, May 15-16, in commemoration of Mark Twain's famous story. "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras." The whole town has been transformed into a replica of the early days, with swarthy miners in red shirts and flowing beards, carrying old-fashioned six-guns. The feminine population has donned pantaloons and the hoopskirts, together with old-fashioned bustles.

Pedigreed frogs from all parts of the nation are beginning to arrive in buckets, fur-lined bath tubs, bird cages and every conceivable contraption, to participate in the world's championship contest held in connection with the most unique celebration in the world.

An additional feature of this year's celebration will be a whole afternoon devoted to horse racing, stage coach races and pony express races on Saturday, May 15, in the town's reconstructed race track, which has been dormant for more than 50 years. The track is a half mile course and is situated just outside the city limits. It was constructed more than 60 years ago.

One of the interesting side lights of the frog contest will be a grudge match of frogs owned by Bob Burns home-spun movie comedian, and Bing Crosby, radio crooner. Burns recently wagered a tidy sum with Crosby that a frog from the mud-flats of Van Buren, Arkansas, could out jump any sunkist hopper, raised in in the shadows of movieland's bright lights. The argument will be settled at Angels Camp on Sunday, May 16.

BOTTLE USED IN DEBATE SMASHES STORE WINDOW

Bill Torpey, war veteran while strolling up and down Broad street Saturday evening, according to Chief Garfield Robson had a little debate with a negro and made a pass at his head with a whiskey bottle in front of Hitchens Shoe Store. The bottle slipped and smashed through the plate glass window in the store.

Chief Robson filed a charge against Torpey and locked him up. He plead guilty this morning to disturbing the peace and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. The sentence was suspended provided he would pay for the window. Torpey promised to do so.

EXPERT SAYS MOULTON SIGNED MOST AFFIDAVITS

Reports of those who have attended the trial of W. H. Moulton and B. W. Hills, charged with violating the 1934 Gold Reserve Act in the Federal Court of San Francisco are to the affect that the handwriting expert's testimony is most important. This witness testified that 80 per cent of the names signed to affidavits submitted by W. H. Moulton along with the gold shipped to the San Francisco mint were in his own handwriting. Since he shipped, according to the mint report, $200,000 worth of gold in 1936, mostly in small amounts, the handwriting expert's testimony carries a good deal of weight.

Affidavits accompanying gold consignments must state the name of the original seller and the place from which the gold is taken. The government claims that in some instances both names and places were fictitious, and that in the great proportion of affidavits sent in by Moulton, he himself had signed the affidavits. Added to this testimony was that of a detective that he had sold to he gold buyers, gold for which he provided no affidavit.

SEAWELL FIGHTS ICKES' CURB ON PROSPECTING

May 10, 1937.

Nevada City Nugget
Dear Mr. Leete:

I am attaching copy of Senate Joint Resolution Number 21, introduced by me, memorializing Congress and several federal offices against removing the right to prospect federal lands for mineral deposits, and substituting leasing provisions in lieu thereof, as proposed by Secretary Ickes. Should Mr. Ickes proposal be enacted it would do more to endanger mineral development in this state than anything that has been proposed in many years.

I thought this information might be of interest to your readers, particularly those who are engaged in mineral development.

Very truly yours,
JERROLD L. SEAWELL.

The resolution follows:

WHEREAS, Recent press reports carry the announcement of a proposal, on the part of the Secretary of the Interior, that the present United States mining laws, under which location and discovery is the basis of the right to develop and to acquire ownership to mining claims, be abandoned, and a Federal leasing system substituted therefor; and

WHEREAS, This proposal gives much concern to the states whose mining activities owe their beginnings, and in large part their growth to the prospector, who, urged by the promise of a rich strike and the right to become owner of his land, braved the danger and endured the hardship of the hills; and

WHEREAS, The prospector is still an important, if not indispensable factor in the discovery of minerals, and will continue, if the incentive for his efforts be not withdrawn, to ply his arduous and perilous, but effective calling; and

WHEREAS, The enthusiasm of the investor, also, who risks his fortune on a prospect willingly when he knows that title can be secured to such prospect, would be seriously impaired, if not destroyed, if a leasing system were substituted, and it is strongly believed that interest in mining development would suffer a severe blow; and

WHERAS, Under a long distance leasing system the annoyances of submitting leases to Federal control, costs incident to surveying, drawing of leases and the like, would tend to discourage the transfer of mining claims, to persons interested in their development, thus retarding development of the industry, likeise the lure of a rich reward to the prospector would be seriously dulled by the proposed change; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, that the Congress of the United States is hereby memoralized to refuse to abandon the present plan under which mineral development has progressed satisfactorily, or to change the present laws relating to discovery and location of lode mining claims; and be further

RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President and the Vice President of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, to the Secretary of the Interior, and to the Senators and Representatives of the State of California in Congress.

STORK BRINGS DAUGHTER

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Dudley at Mercy Hospital in Sacramento, April 28, 1937, a daughter, Mary Frances. Mrs. Dudley was the former Miss Adele Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cunningham. North San Juan merchants. She was fiesta queen at San Juan about three years ago. The tiny babe is named for three great grandmothers, one on the maternal side being Mrs. Mary A. Lutz, of this city; a great aunt and great great-aunt, the latter being Mrs. C. F. Posten of Nevada City.

SEASONS FIRST RATTLER

It seems considerable rivalry exists between Nevada City and North San Juan over killing the first rattlesnake of the season. Nevada City has always claimed the honors but word came today that Joseph M. Swazey of North San Juan killed a big rattler Sunday with nine rattles and a button.

Jane Barton to Tell of Foreign Influence on California Cookery

Among the many nations which have contributed their finer recipes to the gracious culinary secrets which are the common heritage of every California housewife, Jane Barton points out that an important part was played by the Russians during their short stay in California. About 1836 the beautiful Princess Helena Gargaren lived with her husband at Fort Ross, headquarters of the Russian settlement in California. That was just 100 years ago. Contrary to popular legend as typified in a recent motion picture, Princess Helena was a lovely and gracious lady about whom no slightest breath of scandal has ever appeared. Instead she was famous along the entire Pacific Coast for her complete mastery of the culinary art. Her vegetable garden so attracted John Sutter, himself a Swiss with a European's natural interest in cookery, that he begged from her many seeds for his own extensive plantations at Sacramento. The accomplished and popular beauty was also famed for her wonderful dinners. She often entertained such distinguished Californians as General Vallejo, John Sutter, Governor Michel Torena, Senor Martinez and their wives. Many of her delightful recipes were given to these colorful pioneer women and they have gradually spread throughout the state so that they have a distinct influence on California cookery today Jane Barton at California's Homecraft Institute will discuss the influence of this array of California today and will include one of these old Russian recipes in her program.

MANY TOPICS DISCUSSED

The Homecraft Institute covers a great many more subjects than cookery alone. Jane Barton, herself a homemaker, has carefully tested her program from a practical point of view. Simplicity, economy, and the making the most out of what is available are cardinal points in Jane Barton's program.

But the Homecraft Institute covers every field of home economics. Here are some of the subjects Mrs. Barton will discuss:

How should a living room be arranged?

Modern methods of home laundering.

California parties and games—recipes for hilarity.

Flower arrangements in California homes.

Luscious dishes from leftovers.

Time saving ideas that really save.

MENU CONTEST

Every homemaker is invited to take part in the menu contest which will be explained by Jane Barton in detail at the first session. Prizes will be awarded at the end of this series of Homecraft Institutes to those California housewives submitting the most typical California menu featuring California products and based on simplicity and reasonable ecenomy. The prize winning menus will be tested in the Homecraft Department of the Pacific Rural Press for their dietetic value and ease of preparation. Every California housewife attending Jane Barton's Homecraft Institute will have an opportunity to take part in this contest. Jane Barton also invites everyone in her audience who has a special personal home economics problem to talk with her after any of the sessions of the Institute by coming up on the platform and meeting her in person. Every session of the Institute will begin at 2 o'clock and end promptly at 4:30 so that homemakers can return to their residences in time to prepare the evening meals. Every session of the Institute is absolutely free.

The California Homecraft Institute has a really homelike atmosphere. The things Jane Barton suggests are the helpful, wholesome things every good homemaker would wish in her own home.

The Institute will be held in Nevada Theatre, May 19, 30, and 21 under the joint auspices of the Nevada City Nugget and the Pacific Rural Press. Plan now to attend during the three afternoons. Each session will start promptly at 2 p. m. and close soon enough so that homemakers will have ample time to attend to the preparation of the evening meal. Every session is absolutely free. For a better appreciation of the importance of modern methods in homemaking, come to every session as our guests.

SEAWELL SLAPS BUDGET BILL RAILROADING

May 10, 1937.

Nevada City Nugget
Nevada City, California.

Dear Editor:

The Senate of California of Thursday the 29th passed the Governor's budget, as it came from the assembly, without any amendments and without any consideration of the same on the floor of the senate.

The press of California lists me as one of three senators voting against the budget but in many instances failed to state my reasons for this action. I believe the people of my district are entitled to know my position and my reasons for voting against the same.

The budget contains total expenditures of four hundred and thirty-eight millions of dollars. It has always been the practice for the Director of Finance to appear before the state senate, sitting as a committee of the whole, and explain the items contained in the budget and the reasons for the increased appropriations or the reasons for decreasing existing expense items. By following this procedure, the senate could study the budget items intelligently and offer amendments to the same as desired, or necessary, at the time the expense item was under discussion This procedure was not followed this session, although I vigorously opposed this method of railroading the budget through the state senate without proper consideration. The assembly took sixty days to pass judgment upon the same, yet, the senate of California passed the budget without any explanation and only ten minutes consideration.

I cannot subscribe to this method of legislating expenditures involving the sum of money contained in the state budget. By voting against the budget I registered my protest in opposition to this high-handed disregard for the peoples interest and the states welfare.

Sincerely yours,
JERROLD L. SEAWELL.

COUNTY GRANTS OLD AGE RELIEF TO 185 PERSONS

Federal and state auditors visited the office of County Clerk H. N. McCormack today, checking old age relief roles. There are now 185 persons on relief in Nevada County. For each one of these the Federal government pays $15. For whatever remains the state and county share the cost. If, for instance the amount of relief for any one individual amounts to $35, the Federal government contributes $15, and the county and state $10 each.

Old age relief now constitutes a formidable share of the tax burden. In many counties it is second to the fund spent for education. When the relief recipient is obliged to pay rent out of the money granted, $35 is paid, when rent is provided the amount may be $30 or less depending on whether or not he or she has any other resources. Most applicants for ald age relief strenuously object to giving the county a lien on any little property they may possess before an application for relief is granted. The 185 receiving relief in Nevada county is exclusive of those provided for at the county hospital, or the allowance made to those who are blind.

D. Dillingham, wife and son, Denny, former Nevada City residents who left here about three years ago for South America have just returned and are visiting Mrs. Dillingham's mother Mrs. McKnight in Los Angeles. They are to leave this week for the Philippine Islands where Mr. Dillinger will take charge of a gold mine, Mrs. Dillingham and Mrs. Lamar Fleming are sisters and have many friends here.

WASHINGTON ROAD MUST WAIT

The Washington road will have to wait. That is the conclusion reached at a conference Friday between E. B. Dudley, chairman of the board of supervisors, Supervisor Joe Frank, W. H. Griffiths, Nevada City Chamber of Commerce secretary, George H. Calanan, represeting the chamber, W. A. Erwin andW. P. Mitchell of the WPA.

Despite fear expressed at the chamber meeting last Tuesday that the WPA project on Washington road might be abandoned, Erwin stated that it would be continued, but would have to wait until such time as the county could do its stipulated part in the way of providing machinery and expert powder and jackhammer operators and drivers of the road machinery.

Hitler Speaks to the Hens

Hitler is probably the first man in history to whom it has occurred, during an egg shortage, to speak to the hens about it. "We request that every hen," said his Nazi Party News Agency the other day, "lay between 130 and 140 eggs a year."

Der Fuehrer may have something there. He may have something, in fact, of particular interest to California. Because if California's legislature passes a bill now proposing to fix the price of milk by law, it will become necessary for California to speak to the cows.

Suppose we fixed the price, and didn't let the cows in on it. They might go ahead and produce too much milk for the demand, at the fixed price.

Or if the uninformed bovines produced sparingly, the farmers could get no increased return per gallon, as the law of supply and demand would normally grant them, to compensate for the reduced quantity.

But with the cows cooperating, the thing could be done without unfairness to farmers. And it should not be much trouble periodically informing the cud-chewing quadrupeds that the state would appreciate their giving just so many quarts each day, depending upon the price fixed.

Only one disquieting thought occurs—the chance that Nazi hens, now expected to obey Hitler's decree for more eggs, are more intelligent than California cows. Could it be impossible for our cows to understand and obey our orders? But no. All things are possible.

All things must be possible in a world where men are proposing to repeal the law of supply and demand. — Contributed.

That Housewives' Strike

That headline the other day announcing the possibility of a general nationwide housewives' strike must have set a number of men to thinking what a calamity a "sit down" by the woman of the house would be.

Imagine the kind of ad you'd have to place in the "help wanted" colmuns to get some one to do her work. "Wanted: one person who is excellent cook, skilled buyer, tailor, dishwasher, laundress, janitress, governess and nursemaid for children, to work 16 hours a day for no salary but a variable allowance."

Actually, of course, the threat is not of a "sit down" against husbands, but a buyers' strike by the housewives in protest against rising prices.

The threat may bolster the forces now moving against some causes of "artificial" price increases—that is, those increases which benefit neither farmers nor labor. Among such causes are monopoly, price fixing, and the inflationary dangers of government spending.

The government has dusted off and is now applying the anti-trust laws; Congress has just shelved the price-fixing Tydings-Miller bill, and Congress at last seems to be going in for economy in a serious way.

Whether prices go up to a point that would cause a housewives' buying strike will depend in part, at least, on the "follow through" force of these price-checking moves. Let's hope they're effective, for a nationwide buyers' strike would be just the thing to plungs us back into the depths out of which we've been climbing for the last four years. — Contributed.

MAGAZINE FEATURES BENNETTS' GARDEN

The current issue of Sunset Magazine carries a clear beautiful picture of the private park of R. J. Bennetts in Nevada City. The picture of Mr. Bennetts who is standing on the flight of steps is also good. This park is one of the most notable scenic man made spots in all the Sierras. He has transformed a rough gulch into rock gardens, terraces of flowering shrubs and flowers, pools, evergreen trees, shrubs, and flower beds.

BICYCLE SPILL INJURES LAD

Little Billie Hatch received a gash on his head and a broken front tooth Wednesday evening when he took a spill while riding on his bicycle with a little chum after leaving the Gold Flat school. In some way the bicycle went out of balance throwing the boys to the pavement. T. Cartoscelli coming along in his car picked Billie up and took him to Dr. B. W. Hummelt, waiting until the injury was dressed and returned the boy to his home on Clark street.

HOUSEWIVES IN REVOLT AGAINST NEW DEAL H.C.O.L.

BERKELEY, May 10.—Claiming that farmers are unjustly being blamed for skyrocketing prices of vital necessities. Mrs. Mary Cleverdon, president of the California Housewives League has hurled the threat of a buyers' strike unless the cost of living comes down.

In a letter to President Roosevelt, which contained a sharp warning to members of the state legislature. Mrs, Cleverdon said in part:

"In a meeting held in the Oakland city hall Wednesday afternoon, April 28, the Housewives League went on record as commending your action in calling a halt to further price fixing legislation by our Congress.

"We are strongly opposed to price fixing legislation either by our government at Washington or at Sacramento, believing it grossly unfair to the consuming public and wholly wrong in principle. It is a generally recognized fact that consumers everywhere are unorganized and are therefore unable to defend themselves against the injustice of price control.

"Housewives everywhere are complaining about the control in the milk industry, which, in our opinion benefits only the milk trust and the big and uowerful city distributors. We are well aware of the powerful milk lobby working both at Washington and in our legislature now in session in Sacramento, and, in the name of the undernourished children in our nation, we hereby protest to you. The situation is intolerable to housewives and calls for the abolishing of the artificial controls exercised by federal and state authorities.

"Wages of workers everywhere have not kept pace with increased costs of the necessities of life. These high prices fall heaviest upon those least able to pay them.

"The artificial control set up and exercised by city distributors everywhere is responsible in a very large measure for our farm problem. There has never been a milk war in California that has not been paid for by the dairy farmers. The city distributors, through their organizations who control the avenues of distribution, pass on the cost to the producer. He must pay the bill or lose the market for his milk. She producers and consumers are the victims of these price raising schemes.

"The housewives League was organized during the World War, and learned then how to deal with profiteers. It is our determination now to use the same methods we used during the war—reduce our consupmtion and to use all the influence of our organization toward this end. Housewives everywhere will cooperate in this movement. They always have."

CAKE WALK AND DUTCH DANCE AT MINSTRELS TUES.

Its been a long time since there's been a minstrel show presented in Nevada City, but tomorrow night those who remember the last one or those who don't will be able to see for themselves an old time minstrel show.

The show is presented by the Nevada City High School Combined Choruses, under the excellent direction of Mrs. Libby. The "Dixie Minstrels" will provide for interested listeners dances, solos, jokes and songs.

The highlight dance of the evening will be the "Floradora Sextette" dance troupe, consisting of six girls and six boys. This dance will undoubtedly prove entertaining with the dresses and steps of the gay nineties. Dancing to the songs of the peasant, the "French Peasant" dance, which consists of all girls, will contrast with the gay ninety number the dances of the two countries. Still another country comes into the headlines in the dance, in the "Dutch Dance" with boys and girls dancing to the German tune, "Oh, where, oh where, has my little dog gone?" The "cake walk" dance numbber is being kept a secret even from the rest of the Minstrel show performers and will surprise all. The "end men" of the show will entertain the audience with jokes old and new and keep the show going. The "Pickaninnies" will tap to a real old southern tune and show that they "have rythm." Approximately six solos will be given by the end me nand many beautiful songs will be sung by the entire company. The important job of interlocketer is being filled by Dick Tuttle. There are other surprises in store for attenders and those who go will "get their moneys worth." The admission price is forty cents, seats may be reserved at Foleys' Confectionery on Pine street. It will be given at the Nevada Theatre. There will be a matinee Tuesday afternoon.

IMPROVEMENTS BY P. G. E. WILL COST $61,000

Costing in excess of $61,000 and planned to improve service on its properties in the neighborhood of Auburn and Grass Valley, the building program of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company is already under way, according to Division Manager H. M. Cooper.

Foremost item of expeniture is $36,500 to replace four 300 KVA transformers with four 1000 KVA transformers at Rocklin sub-station and increase primary capacity from Rocklin to Penryn sub-station. This will provide additional capacity and relieve Wise power house from any overload.

Facilities serving the Placer county hospital at Auburn are to be replaced and rearranged in order to provide service for the nex annex being built there, and distribution facilities for the Grass Valley business district will also be reconstruted and rearranged.

Installation of additional circuits to improve voltage conditions in Grass Valley; addition of new conconcrete flume to the Chalf Bluff canal near Deer Creek Forebay to improve reliability and accuary of measumement of water delivered to Nevada Irrigation district, and various minor replacements and improvements complete the present project.

SOPHOMORES PRESENT PROGRAM

In the activity period Friday the program was presented by the sophomore class. Karl Kopp, sophomore, acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the following numbers: Tap dance by Elton Tobiassen; song by Georgia Glennon; musical reading by Laura Price; play, "At the Soda Fountain" with the following characters: Bernice McQuay, Laurel Biggs, Evelyn Elliott, Georgia Glennon, Doreen Foreman, Wilfred Joyal, Carlos Casmore and Virginia Carney; Clarinet trio, Virginia Carney, Bernice McQuay and Doreen Foreman; cornet solo, Bill Dent; and piano duet, Evelyn Lotz and John Muscardini. Mr. L. E. Sweeney is the class advisor and Virginia Carney is the class president. An assembly by the Social Science Class will be given on this Friday.

Mexican Motif at Nelson-Goldsmith Luncheon

Mrs. DeWitt Nelson and Mrs. Belnap Goldsmith were most gracious hostesses to a large group of friends at a one o'clock luncheon on Friday at the Goldsmith home on Nevada street. Guests were received in the drawing rooms which were colorfully decorated in scarlet tulips, narcissus and iris. A Mexican motif was used in the decorative scheme at the luncheon tables.

The luncheon menu was Mexican and the Nevada City ladies greatly enjoyed the novelty which was most artistic and appetizing. Favors at the luncheon tables and score cards were also of Mexican design. Mrs. Goldsmith who took a month's trip to Mexico last November, brought these ideas and novelties home with her.
